

Find and engage with the top-quality talent you need with Monster's advanced resume search tool.

SearchMonster uses precision technology to find the exact talent you need from our database of millions of resumes and professional profiles. Plus, you can manage and contact candidates via email or text message—all from the same interface. No more toggling from one platform to another. SearchMonster lets you do it all—find and reach the top-quality talent you need, when you need it.

- Find the right fit, fast
You can start your search with broad criteria like job title, level and location. Then, use filters—like education, salary, relocation preference, citizenship, veteran status, and more—to widen or narrow the results.
- Leverage your preferred search method
SearchMonster offers both semantic and boolean search logic so you can search how you want.
- View candidate snapshots
Robust profile sums up candidate skills, experience, and education for quick consumption - plus you can compare candidates side by side.
- Message candidates directly
You can connect with candidates right from the platform, using text and email tools that are built into SearchMonster's easy-to-use three-panel interface.
- Act on new candidates immediately
Reach candidates before your competitors do - we'll email you when new candidates who meet your saved search criteria enter the database.
- Track your campaigns
Built-in analytics help you analyze the performance of your campaigns and understand candidate behavior.
